DEDICATION of the SCIENCE and
ENGINEERING CENTER

The Continuing Responsibilities Imposed by the Advances of Science on This Generation

I should like particularly to emphasize that our dedicatory celebration today aims to highlight one vitally important fact: all of us, in one way or another, share in the continuing responsibility which the advances of science impose on this generation.

"Within the University, the faculty in the engineering and science departments must recognize their solemn obligation to utilize these facilities to their maximum effectiveness in their efforts to discover and propagate and conserve the knowledge which is the precious commodity with which their profession is concerned.

"Our students must recognize that, as never before, theirs is a moral obligation to apply their God-given talents to the pursuit of scientific competence so that the threat of scientific illiteracy in our day may be averted.

"This community and especially its business and industrial leaders must reaffirm their responsibility to guarantee that the manpower pool of scientific ability, which will probably always be in short supply, is drawn upon with intelligent efficiency.

"Moreover, all of our citizens, and especially those who have been blessed with a generous share of this world's goods, must accept the responsibility of helping to bear the extremely heavy financial costs of superior scientific research and education."

Youth is an unripe time, a green period of growth that slowly yields to the influence of a benign maturing. From the give and take inherent in student organizations and activities, one is gradually persuaded toward possessing the confidence of maturity.

Personalities, strengthened by the abrasion of contacts—religious, social, academic, athletic—are better prepared for exercising effective roles in life. This surely must be one of the reasons why the University presently maintains some hundred and thirty organizations.

An excellent example of organization, competition, and social life is the whirl of Sadie Hawkins Day, presented by Kappa Beta Gamma.

THE BEST of BROADWAY

Mary Fran Hinckley, a four-year Chorale member and the "Miss Redbird of 1965," was featured in "People."

"The Best of Broadway" gets off to a swinging start with the full Chorale joining in a selection of all-time Gershwin songs.

Golterman was President of the Chorale for 1964-65.

Judy Rizzo and Bill Schwarz had solo leads in several selections from "Oliver."

Bebe Benassi, as "Laurey," laughs it off as Mary Jane Murphy, playing "Gertie," tells "Curly" Jim Golterman she loves the way he handles horses.

A section of the Chorale harmonizes in a medley from "Milk and Honey."

Steve Roy, Mary Fran Hinckley, and Gary Stoff sing and smile through "Hello, Dolly," a dance number which featured the Choraleers.

THE SODALITY, erected here in 1835, is one of the oldest campus organizations. Its members make an Act of Consecration to the Blessed Virgin Mary, assuming thereby the obligations set forth in the rules of the Sodality. This means accepting a way of life that is designed to sanctify its members by a daily pattern of spiritual activities and guarantee to them a program in the lay apostolate for extending the mission of the Church.

Sodalists see themselves as becoming well-rounded, educated Catholics, possessed of a special devotion to the Mother of God and a deep dedication to the cause of Christ. In rapport with the development of this high sense of personal responsibility, one of their immediate concerns is to exert, through private and united apostolates, the power of their influence and leadership in Christianizing every aspect of human life.

THE SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY GROTTTO is a chapter of the National Speleological Society, an organization devoted to the exploration and scientific study of caves. Nearby areas in the states of Missouri and Illinois contain hundreds of caverns to provide a challenge to University spelunkers.

In addition, the Grotto encompasses the activities of camping and mountaineering. Rock-climbing practice takes place on the bluffs of the Mississippi near St. Louis and in state parks in Missouri's Ozarks. Formed in the spirit of outing clubs at other universities, the Grotto provides a welcome change of pace for students who have an appetite for fresh air and invigorating exercise in the great outdoors.

INSTITUTE of TECHNOLOGY

DEAN

Victor J. Blum, S.J.

THE INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY ADHERES to the general objective of educating the whole man. While this implies the harmonious development of the student's various faculties, it proposes especially to achieve in him a gentleman of Christian culture, one who is dedicated to the service of God and of man, who knows his temporal and eternal destiny, who understands the dignity of man, and who orders his personal life in keeping with this destiny and dignity.

In the scientific and engineering fields, the Institute has as its objective the education of the student for excellence and professional competence in his chosen work. This is achieved by a strong emphasis on the basic sciences and on the fundamental approach in engineering subjects rather than on acquiring many skills in the applied areas.

SOCIETY OF EXPLORATION GEOPHYSICISTS

THE GEOPHYSICAL SOCIETY was organized in December 1949 and was admitted as a student section of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists in February 1950. The S.E.G. was organized in 1930 at Houston, Texas.

The function of the Society is to promote the science of geophysics and the art of exploration geophysics, particularly the study of the electrical, gravitational, and magnetic fields of the earth and the application of principles of seismology in the exploration of oil, natural gas, and valuable ores.

The maintenance of a high professional standard among its members is of primary interest. These objectives are achieved through field trips and meetings to which guest speakers are invited from industry, research, and teaching.

MISSOURI SOCIETY OF PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS

THE SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY STUDENT CHAPTER of the Missouri Society of Professional Engineers was chartered by the state society in September 1961 and by the national society in May 1963. It is the first student chapter to be organized in the state of Missouri and its members are from all branches of the engineering field. The main purpose of this organization is to further vocational and ethical interest in the engineering field.

SODALITY—Secretary R. Mauer, Treasurer W. Zimmerman, Prefect M. Hoffman, Moderator Fr. J. Daly, S.J.

THE SODALITY, erected here in 1935, is one of the oldest campus organizations. Its members make an Act of Consecration to the Blessed Virgin Mary, assuming thereby the obligations set forth in the rules of the Sodality. This means accepting the way of life that is designed to sanctify its members by a daily pattern of spiritual activities and guarantee to them a program in the lay apostolate for extending the mission of the Church.

Sodalists see themselves as becoming well-rounded, educated Catholics, possessed of a special devotion to the Mother of God and a deep dedication to the cause of Christ. In rapport with the development of this high sense of personal responsibility, one of their immediate concerns is to exert, through private and united apostolates, the power of their influence and leadership in Christianizing every aspect of human life.

All members of the Society are encouraged to participate in the trimonthly meetings and the triweekly tours of manufacturing plants in the St. Louis area. Besides offering firsthand industrial experience, these tours enable the members to meet professionals from local industry and discuss with them the latest developments in industrial engineering. In addition to standing-committee activities, the Society sponsors an exhibit for Open House and presents annually a Conference Day—an on-campus program in which students are invited to hear speakers from many industries and fields discuss industrial applications and professionalism in engineering.

GLENNON HALL LOUNGE

THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE INDIVIDUAL AS A PERSON, simultaneous with the acquisition of professional knowledge and skill, is the primary objective of the School of Nursing and Health Services. This development entails the achievement of a progressive maturity—intellectual, professional, social, emotional, and spiritual—through the educational process, though not exclusively through its agency.

All the members are associated with the Central Plains Judo Association and so obtain the black belt and brown belt supervision.

ALPHA PI SIGMA

ALPHA PI SIGMA, at present the largest social fraternity at Parks, was founded in 1943 to develop a sense of fellowship and sound character among its brothers. N.C.A.A. SOCCER CHAMPIONS

THE PERENNIALY POWERFUL BILLIKEN SOCCER TEAM, under the direction of Coach Bob Guelker, rolled to an undefeated season that ended with the N.C.A.A. championship. The Bills encountered little difficulty in reaching the playoffs, winning most of their games by comfortable margins. The final game of the playoffs with always tough Michigan State turned out to be a real test of strength with the Bills coming out ahead by a score of 1-0.

High-scoring forwards Jack Kinealy with 23 goals and Carl Gentile with 10 led the potent offense which accounted for a total of 60 markers. Defensive stalwarts were Jack Gilsinn and Joe Westhus. They were chiefly responsible for holding the opposition to a mere 9 goals which tied last year's record.
